DAILY · THE UNION

VOL. XX.—NO. 6110. PORTLAND, OREGON, TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 16, 1880. PRICE—TEN CENTS.

GENERAL NEWS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

The Passion Play.

New York, Nov. 15.—The Baptist ministers' conference of this city unanimously and without debate adopted the following: In view of the [illegible] play by one of the theaters of this city, Resolved, That as a conference we protest against [illegible] sacrilegious use of the most sacred things of our religion.

The Tribune says: The scheme to represent the Passion play at Booth's is looked on with great disfavor by the clergymen of New York. Tribune reporters have talked about the matter with Rev. Drs. Henry Potter, John Hall, Thos. Armitage, J. P. Newman, H. W. Bellows, Edward McGlynn, and Rev. Robert Collyer. All are strongly opposed to the plan and give their reasons for their opposition in a temperate but impressive and forcible manner. The feeling in the Episcopal, Presbyterian, Baptist, Methodist, Unitarian and Roman Catholic churches of this city is indicated by these interviews, and it seems plain that if the purpose to present the play is carried out it will be full in the face of a strong public sentiment.

Compromise not Repudiation.

Gov. Cobb, of Alabama, is witty in the [illegible] topics. He remarked to a Times representative that the state debt has been reduced by compromise from $34,000,000 to $10,000,000, but there has been no repudiation.

Secretary Thompson.

The Times has a story from Washington that Secretary Thompson has made himself very unpopular by his treatment of subordinates and those on the road to promotion, and that his economy will have to be paid for by future administrations.

Report Corrected.

The son-in-law of the late General Sutter corrects the report of the death of the General's wife, recently published. He says Mrs. Sutter though [illegible] is in better health than during the summer. Movement among Californians here for her relief is progressing slowly.

Export Trade.

The comparative statement of exports from New York to foreign ports for ten months from January shows an increase exclusive of specie of $5[illegible] over 1878. With specie included the increase [illegible] and $43,213,243 respectively.

The Congregational Convention.

St. Louis, Nov. 15.—The Congregational convention decided to appoint a committee of 25 on the subject of creeds. Dr. Edward Beecher read a report recommending the present congressional representative from Utah, be not admitted to his seat in congress, and that the territory be refused admission to the union until polygamy is abolished there. The report received repeated applause, but was not adopted for the reason that it was not clear that congress had the right to exclude the Utah delegate. It was ordered printed, however.

Murder.

Paterson, N. J., Nov. 15.—The wife of Samuel [illegible]son, a prominent lawyer of New York, was murdered this morning on the porch of her house.

Mill Burned.

[illegible], Nov. 15.—Aiken, McLaren & Wynant's knitting mill at West Sand lake was burned by incendiaries. Loss, $35,000; insurance, $16,000.

Jesse the Wicked Boy.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 15.—Jesse Pomeroy has been detected in another scheme to escape from his prison cell by sawing through the thick boiler casing with a saw improvised from a knife. He cut an aperture through 18 inches long and 9 inches wide. It was discovered by the yard officers.

Big Price for a Drink.

St. Louis, Nov. 15.—Four railroad men went into [illegible]'s saloon about half past 11 last night, and ordered the drinks which were paid for. Shortly afterwards more drinks were taken, and the party started to leave the saloon without paying for them. [illegible] asked for pay; a row ensued in which [illegible] drew a revolver and shot Tobias Laughlin, and shot a ball through the lungs of his brother, Daniel Laughlin. The dead body of Tobias was taken to the morgue and his brother sent to his boarding house, 1708 Broadway. Tobias Laughlin was engineer on the Wabash road, and had a wife and children somewhere in Canada.

Internal Improvements.

Chicago, Nov. 15.—The Times says the projected ship canal from Chicago to the Mississippi will not be allowed to slumber in a period of such prosperity as now envelopes the land. Congressman Farwell favors the widening of the Illinois & Michigan canal at LaSalle and the improvement of the Illinois river. The secretary of the board of trade, Charles Randolph, favors a new cut from LaSalle to the most direct point on the "father of waters." The estimated cost of the scheme is $1,500,000 to $4,000,000.

Financial.

The Wall street prediction of high rates of interest is based upon the absorption of $125,000,000 or more in the construction of railroads to the Pacific and [illegible]. National banks have in the past ten months extended their circulation only $5,533,890.

Wintry Weather.

Wilmington, N. C., Nov. 15.—After an almost continuous rain of twenty-four hours, snow commenced falling about half-past seven this morning, and still continues to fall. A heavy storm is reported at [illegible]ville and Goldsboro.

Sticking to the Offices.

New Orleans, Nov. 15.—The newly-elected city officers called at the city hall and made a formal demand for possession. Mayor Patten and the administration refused to surrender, saying they considered the late election illegal.

Guilty as Charged.

Newark, N. J., Nov. 15.—The jury in the case of [illegible] Baldwin, defaulting cashier of the Newark savings bank, brought in a verdict of guilty of embezzlement and malfeasance.

Minnesota Official.

St. Paul, Nov. 15.—Complete official returns from all counties in the state make Garfield's majority [illegible]. Congressional majorities are as follows: 1st district, Dunnell's plurality over Wells, 9240; 2d district, [illegible]'s majority, 8046; 3d district, Washburn's [illegible] 11,816. The total vote is 149,411. Nearly all returns indicate a majority of something over 2000 in favor of the text-book law.

Railroad Matters.

Baltimore, Nov. 15.—The directors of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad were elected to-day. The earnings of the road were $18,213,000; net earnings [illegible], an increase over last year of $4,124,[illegible]. Increase in tonnage over half a millions tons.

Fire in an Insane Asylum.

St. Paul, Nov. 15.—A fire is reported raging in the insane asylum at St. Peter and an engine has been sent up. There are 600 inmates in the asylum. A dispatch from the mayor of St. Peter to Gov. Pillsbury says the insane asylum is completely destroyed. No particulars.

Sitting Bull Solid.

Chicago, Nov. 15.—The Tribune's correspondent at Bismarck says Sitting Bull swears he will fight the U. S. troops forever and die rather than surrender. However he doubtless will be surrounded and captured this winter by Gen. Miles.

Barge and Crew Lost.

Buffalo, Nov. 15.—The barge Morning Star from Toledo to Buffalo with a cargo of 40,400 bushels of wheat, and owned by John Kilderhouse of this city, is reported lost in the storm last week with all on board. She was commanded by Captain John W. [illegible] of this city and a crew of six men. The vessel was insured for $17,000 and the cargo at [illegible]

Texas Election.

Galveston, Nov. 15.—Returns are very slow coming in, but the re-election of Jones (Indept) for congress in the 5th Texas district is conceded.

WASHINGTON CITY.

United States Counsel.

Washington, Nov. 15.—The president appointed secretary of the Treasury Boutwell, counsel for the United States before the newly organized French-American mixed claims commission.

The Keystone Case.

[illegible], Nov. 15.—The Keystone case, involving the question whether the school land grant to the state of California covers mineral lands, was not decided by the United States supreme court to-day, but it is thought that the opinion of the court will be announced next Monday.

Report of the Surgeon General.

Surgeon General Barnes in his annual report says an appropriation of $250,000 will be required for the use of the medical department for the fiscal year ending June, 1882.

Receiving the Dignitaries.

This morning the president received in official audience Marshal Do-Bartholemy, privy counsellor [illegible] actual service, and Chamberlain [illegible], as his majesty's envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary near this government. The president also received [illegible] Santo Domingo, [illegible] envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to the United States of Columbia. In presenting their letters to the president the ministers delivered [illegible] between the United States and Russia [illegible]

Indefinitely Postponed.

The sale of 221,480 acres of land belonging to the United States in the southwestern part of North Carolina, advertised by the [illegible] on the 24th has been [illegible] postponed.

Pay of Marshals.

A request has been received by the attorney general from United States Marshal [illegible] in the matter of issuing vouchers [illegible] deputies for services rendered at the last election. [illegible] received it will be answered [illegible] reference to the circular issued to all marshals before the election, expressly stating that deputy election marshals in accepting appointment would have to await congressional action for pay for their services; and in accordance with this warning [illegible] cannot now secure anything like [illegible] must be content with [illegible] general claims against the government [illegible]

Change Contemplated.

It is believed in the National Republican [illegible] thought to be semi-official [illegible] attention of the administration to make a change at West Point and put Gen. Howard in charge. [illegible] Gen. Schofield [illegible] the head of the war department have not been in harmony [illegible] affairs at the military academy.

Trouble Ahead.

It is rumored that trouble is brewing in the war department. Secretary Ramsey is reported to be [illegible] General Schofield's report [illegible]

[illegible] at West Point and is making the Whittaker case the [illegible]

Still in the Indian Business.

The [illegible] Washington special says: [illegible] Meacham, of the Ute commission, will start back to Colorado, [illegible] under the urgent request of Secretary Schurz. He would have gone before but [illegible] of his alleged complicity in Jackson's murder.

Pilotage Laws.

Washington, Nov. 15.—Owing to the [illegible] construction of pilots, [illegible] Dumont, supervising inspector general of steamboats, to-day decided that pilots whose licenses may be suspended [illegible] the expiration [illegible] suspended pilots are not required by law to take out new licenses.

The Exodus Still Goes On.

Chicago, Nov. 15.—The Inter-Ocean's Washington special says: Reports are received and believed that thousands of negroes are leaving Alabama and Louisiana and will continue the emigration all winter.

Commissioner Raum's Report.

Chicago, Nov. 15.—The Inter-Ocean's Washington special says: Commissioner Raum's report will show the year to have been far the best ever passed as far as his department is concerned. He will strongly recommend the repeal of the tax on matches as one the government does not need and as being arbitrary and an imposition on a necessity of life. These and other articles and patent medicines are not in the same category as liquors and tobacco, which should be taxed.

Wants a Judgeship.

It is reported that David Davis wishes to return to the bench. This if true would give the republicans another senator from Illinois and control of the senate. Garfield is likely to have four supreme court vacancies during his term. The pressure is very great and growing stronger for the retention of Sherman as secretary of the treasury.

THE ARMY.

Annual Report of the General of the Army—Recommendations and Descriptive.

[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN.]

Washington, Nov. 15.—The annual report of Gen. Sherman to the secretary of war is given to the public today. After calling attention to the various subordinate reports Sherman says: I agree with Sheridan that the army is too small in enlisted men to fulfil the heavy duties now imposed on it, and is overworked. I therefore renew my recommendation of last year that congress be asked to give 25,000 enlisted men specifically to the corps of the line of the army; to make separate provision for detachments of advance men, engineers of battalion, hospital stewards, commissary sergeants, West Point detachments, detailed clerks, etc., in the same manner as has already been done for the signal corps. In this connection I will venture to call your attention to the fact that the revised statutes, edition of 1878, section 1115, defining the organization of the army limits the strength to not more than 30,000 enlisted men; but subsequent bills by provisos appear to have limited expenditures to 25,000 enlisted men. Still the legal strength is 30,000 enlisted men, and that number is the least possible at which we can maintain the present organization of 400 regiments in anything like good order, discipline and economy, and I infer this end can be reached by omitting the provisos in the next appropriation bill. Prosperous times and the easy financial condition of the treasury may now enable congress to provide suitable armaments for the forts which guard the chief harbors of the country.

Speaking of the Northern Pacific, Union Pacific and Southern Pacific railroads, Gen. Sherman says: These railroads have completely revolutionized our country in the past few years and impose on the military an entire change of policy. Hitherto we have been compelled to maintain small posts along wagon and stage routes of travel. These are no longer needed because no longer used, and the settlements which grow up speedily along new railroads afford the security necessary, and the regular stations, built for storage at convenient distances, afford shelter for military stores and for the men when operating in the neighborhood. We should now absolutely abandon many of the smaller posts hitherto necessary, and concentrate at strategic points—generally near the national frontier, or where railroads intersect—so as to send out detachments promptly to districts where needed. Congress alone has the power to dispose of the property of the United States, and we (the military) find ourselves possessed of lands and points, acquired in early times for occupation and preservation, and I earnestly recommend that provision be made by law for the sale of such abandoned military posts and outbuildings as is found to be necessary, with the right to apply the proceeds of sale to other places, the property of the United States.

Gen. Sherman specifies posts in Kansas, New Mexico and Arizona, and also Forts Keogh and Custer on the Yellowstone, built only four years ago, and expresses the opinion that in a very short time they will become commercial towns rather than military posts. In my judgment the time has now come for the military authority to select suitable strategic points for permanent occupation and improvements whence detachments can be sent out for special service. As long as we possess and must care for these small posts it is impossible to abandon them to waste, and we are forced to hold them; but if congress will designate to the president, secretary of war and board of officers the right to sell these posts and appropriate the proceeds of the sale to strategic points I am certain it will result in great economy and enable us to maintain large garrisons with increased discipline and better service.

For similar reasons, and because the commerce of the world is carried on in ships of 3000 tons and over, and because of the heavy draft of war vessels most of our sea coast defenses are superfluous. We now have over 50,000,000 people, and the idea of any hostile force landing on our coasts is preposterous. Yet our great commercial ports should be made so safe that even an apprehension of danger would not be felt. Portland, Boston, Newport, New York, Philadelphia, Hampton Roads, Port Royal, Key West, Pensacola, New Orleans, San Diego, San Francisco and Port Townsend should all be properly fortified and garrisoned. All minor forts should be sold or abandoned. An annual appropriation of $1,000,000 would in a few years put those forts in good order, and another million a year would arm them, and the secretary of war and the president should have the discretion in the disbursement of this money.

Artillery officers should also be associated with the engineers in constructing, altering and repairing the sea coast defenses, because the men who have to fight these batteries should have something to do in their construction.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

Debate in the French Senate.

Paris, Nov. 15.—In the senate to-day M. Buffet interpellated the government concerning the ministerial crisis which resulted in DeFreycinets' resignation, and concerning the expulsion of unauthorized religious congregations. Buffet expressed a belief that the application of the decrees was a mere pretext for DeFreycinets' overthrow, the real reason being his disapproval of the speech delivered by Gambetta at Cherbourg.

Ferry denied Buffet's insinuations. He declared that the leaders of the monarchial coalitions were in league with the religious establishments, and that their resistance to the laws amounted to veritable rebellion, to which it was necessary to put an end. He charged that money and position had been offered police officials if they would refuse to execute the decrees.

Ferry asked the senate to reject the interpellation in order to put an end to anarchy.

DeFreycinets said the question between himself and his colleagues was not whether their enforcement was opportune.

The debate adjourned until to-morrow.

Heavy Fine.

Toulouse, Nov. 15.—The manager of the Toulousiet newspaper, has been condemned in 12,000 francs damages to Constans, minister of the interior, and 6000 francs to the prefect of Toulouse for libeling them.

Bank of England.

London, Nov. 15.—It is stated the Bank of England is getting short of eagles, consequently part of the bullion withdrawn to-day for New York was in bars.

Chosen Lord Rector.

London, Nov. 15.—John Bright was elected lord rector of the University of Glasgow, defeating John Ruskin by 314 votes.

Too much Conversion.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 15.—The governor general of Kasan will be superseded and tried shortly for forcibly attempting to convert 500,000 Tartars to the orthodox faith.

Sentences Confirmed or Mitigated.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 15.—The commander of the troops in St. Petersburg district has confirmed the sentences of convicted nihilists, with slight mitigations. The czar has commuted the sentence of death passed upon three prisoners to imprisonment for life.

Arrival of Monks.

Madrid, Nov. 15.—The arrival of French monks at Alicante and Barcelona caused a hostile popular demonstration. They were compelled to re-embark from the latter place.

The Decree of 1834.

Paris, Nov. 15.—The Jesuits having attempted to [illegible] Portugal, the government has [illegible] to enforce the decree of 1834 against [illegible] religious orders.

The Propaganda Fide.

Rome, Nov. 15.—The court of appeals has confirmed [illegible] of the court of first instance [illegible] the property of the propaganda fide [illegible] in the same manner as that of other religious houses.

Troops Whipped.

Cape Town, Nov. 15.—The rebels attacked a small force of [illegible] troops occupying [illegible] and the troops were obliged to retreat.

WEST INDIES.

Money for New York.

Havana, Nov. 15.—The steamers Newport and City of [illegible] carry [illegible] for New York.

Governmental Expenses.

The captain general, with a view of reducing the expenses of the treasury, and [illegible] of laboring hands, has ordered the formation of a reserve of the active army [illegible] soldiers as far as the necessities of the service will permit from the 1st of December next. Soldiers [illegible] leave from the service will receive [illegible] their pay will then be discontinued. Those [illegible] will be obliged to pay [illegible] will be required to return to [illegible]

Tonnage Dues.

The [illegible] of San Domingo has decreed [illegible] the exorbitant dues of one dollar per ton shall be paid on each vessel entering the port of the [illegible] of keeping the port clear.

AQUATIC SPORTS.

The Great Sculling Match on the Thames between Hanlan and Trickett—The Former an Easy Winner in 26 Minutes.

[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN.]

London, Nov. 15.—The sculling match between Edward Hanlan, of Toronto, and Edward Trickett, of Sydney, N. S. W., over the Thames championship course from Putney to Mortlake for the championship of the world [illegible] sterling came off to-day, and was won by Hanlan in his usual style. The race was a [illegible] from start to finish. Hanlan stopped several times, allowing Trickett to come up. [illegible] of people witnessed the affair. The river was perfectly still. The crab tree was passed in 6 minutes and 4 seconds from the starting point. Here Trickett began to labor and took [illegible] and by the time the soap works were reached [illegible] was absolutely over. Occasionally Hanlan stopped rowing and Trickett came up, when a few powerful strokes would send him ahead of him. Between Hammersmith and Chiswick Hanlan laid down twice. He stopped entirely once, and again paddled along first with one scull and then with the other. He turned over and chatted with Elliott, who was rowing alongside and finally won by about three lengths, which he could have made half a mile if he had chosen. Time of race, 26 minutes.

Notwithstanding Trickett was favorite in the betting, 5 to 4 being taken on him at, lately the extent of £1000, but before the start, Hanlan had taken the first place in the betting; 7 to 4 on him was offered freely, and some wagers were made of 2 to 1. The weather was dull and misty and chilly. The start took place at 12:16 o'clock, at which time the tide was nearly full and the water slack and smooth. Throughout Hanlan had the Surrey side of the river. A very even start was effected. Hanlan striking the water at the rate of 35 strokes a minute and Trickett at the rate of 41. Hanlan rowed easily and in perfect style, showing his superiority from the first stroke.

Later accounts give the time at 26 minutes and 12 seconds.

The Sportsman says: We believe that Hanlan is far superior as a sculler to Trickett, and we do not think Trickett was at all as well as could be hoped. Weeks ago when he made a trip to the Isle of Wight and France he was overstrained; he had worked himself to a pitch of muscular tension which nature refused to sustain long and relaxation ensued. Probably he was suffering one of these relapses yesterday. It must also be remembered that Trickett has always had a bronchial affection, but we do not hesitate to say he would never beat Hanlan, even if in the best of health. With regard to Hanlan probably many years will elapse before such a perfect sculler again appears.

Hanlan seemed delighted with the friendship shown for him. He rowed most of the distance in a literally lazy manner as though he would prefer to stay did not circumstances compel him to progress. He astonished crowds by his manoeuvres and antics, ever deceiving the crowd once into thinking he had fainted in his boat, and then laughing merrily at their evident concern in which the crowd heartily joined. Hanlan's time was 26 minutes and 2 seconds; Trickett's time 26 minutes and 12 seconds.

Hanlan has been inundated with congratulatory telegrams. Among them are dispatches from the marquis of Lorne, governor general of Ontario, the mayor of Toronto, Gov. Packard, American consul general at Liverpool, and many Canadians.

The Regatta.

It is rumored that Hanlan has decided not to row in the regatta for the American prizes. Blackman has retired from the contest owing to sickness.

Will Row.

Hanlan stated last night that, unless illness prevented, he would certainly participate in the international regatta.

SOUTH AMERICA.

The Horrors of War.

Panama, Oct. 16.—The Lima correspondent of the Star and Herald says Commander Lynch continues his raid through the defenseless northern towns and valleys of Peru. The damage done is immense. The people are panic stricken. All able to leave have gone to the towns in the Cordilleras, and on the other slope, wherein it is hardly possible the Chilians will care to penetrate. Blackmail has been extensively levied by Commander Lynch, and all who have been "requisitioned" and have not paid up, has their property destroyed. The raiders arrived in the vicinity of Moscow plantation in Chicama valley, owned by Senor Orbegoso, secretary of the government, three days ago, but are ordered away on receipt of a message from the prefect of the department.

Senor Soloman, under a flag of truce, proposed to hold a meeting with Lynch to discuss matters. Lynch had demanded payment of [illegible] the contribution imposed by him upon Trujillo and valley, and he would re-embark his troops. The Peruvian prefect communicated with the dictator, Picollo, for instructions and inclosed a dispatch from the American consul, H. Kauffman, who stated it as important to all that the committee of Peruvians should be resolved and prepared to pay for the contribution which with a perfect right has been imposed by the Chilean commander on the town and valley of Trujillo. Picollo answered: "We pay our ransom with lead alone. All you have to do is to defend yourself at all hazards and damage the invader as much as possible. It is absolutely necessary that [illegible] should not occur."

The dispatch of Consul Kauffman will be sent to the American legation in order that the government may appreciate as it deserves the term "perfect right," as applied to Chilean depredations which have no equal in the usages of other nations. This dispatch from the dictator put an end to all attempts at arrangement.

A skirmish recently took place near Moquega between 400 Peruvians and 300 Chilians resulting in the defeat of the latter. Bombardment accompanied by a force 2000 strong, had left for Moquega. The Chilians landed almost a thousand men in San Lorenzo and are busily engaged in constructing batteries. They have cattle on the island. During two days they were transhipping plunder from the north to one transport, which left for the south apparently with a fair cargo. It is some satisfaction to the Peruvians that whilst reaping similar harvests in the south of Chili they are driving herds, destroying villages and killing the inhabitants in Angol.

Heavy Earthquake.

A sharp earthquake was experienced here and at Callao on the 5th, at 9:33 A. M. The shock was vibratory and lasted 18 seconds, commencing with a slight trembling and terminating with a motion which frightened every one to the streets. No damage. Peruvians devoutly wish a tidal wave may have again swept into Arica bay and destroyed the Chilian transports at anchor there.

A large torpedo was sent off in Callao bay in a house, destroying some of the Chilian vessels. It held three tons of powder. When it exploded it threw up an immense volume of water and shook the whole country. The Chilian fleet was made aware of the danger and gave the torpedo a wide berth.

Following the Chilian force are hundreds of Chilians lately employed at haciendas visited by the Chilians. This horde completes the work of rapine and plunder begun by the invaders.

THE AGITATION IN IRELAND.

Boycott's Troubles.

London, Nov. 15.—A reinforcement of 100 men has been sent to the Boycott house. Preparations are made for the military occupation of Headport, four miles further off, in consequence of the threatening aspects of affairs there. There was no land meeting at the gates of Boycott's house Sunday, but a great meeting was held fourteen miles off.

Boycotting the Landlords.

At a meeting of 500 persons at Enorkanrose, near Wrightown, yesterday, for the purpose of "Boycotting" three landlords and land agents in the neighborhood, James O'Brien, an Irish American, in the course of a speech, said: "If Boycotting these men had not the effect of reforming them, the people would resort to stronger measures, and see if leaden pills would suit their digestion." "The first duty of every Irishman," he said, "is to get a rifle, and his second duty is to use it." He added: "There are 600,000 stout men in America who would die happy if they could kill the cursed Saxon."

The Indicted Agitators.

Dublin, Nov. 5.—In the case of the indicted agitators a bill of particulars has been furnished by the prosecution to the traversers. It states that the traversers have tried to terrify landlords and prevent them from legally enforcing the payment of rent by holding meetings, displaying placards and banners and circulating reports of speeches made at the aforesaid meetings, in various papers.

Terms of Peace.

London, Nov. 5.—About 40 tenants under Loughmask estate, under the leadership of the members of the land league, will leave Ballinrobe on Tuesday, for Newtown Butler to tender full rents to Lord Erne and ask him to dismiss his agent, Capt. Boycott. Lord Erne hitherto declined to receive the rents except through Capt. Boycott.

Movements of the Tenantry.

The tenants on the Lough Mask estate issued an address calling on all Irishmen, regardless of party, [illegible] to enable them to [illegible] Lord Erne's house.

CROP REPORTS.

The Condition of the Cotton, Wheat and Oat Crops in the United States, as Shown by Reports to the Department of Agriculture.

[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN.]

Washington, Nov. 15.—The following statement of the condition of the cotton [illegible]

CLOSING THEM ROUND.

Prominent Democrats Getting Into Hot Water—Drawing the Toils around Barnum and his Pals in the Forgery Business.

[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN.]

Washington, Nov. 15.—A sensation was created today by the arrest of H. J. Hinson [illegible] It was at once suspected that their visit had something to do with the Morey letter, and [illegible] Mr. Johnson, publisher of the Republican, now [illegible] in New York [illegible] O'Brien [illegible] Lindsay [illegible] to corroborate the statements of O'Brien [illegible] implicated in the letter [illegible]. He says the committee at New York are determined to drive these men to the wall, but [illegible] will be taken against anyone unless O'Brien's story is corroborated by circumstantial evidence. He declined to give the names tonight, but stated that so far their investigations had completely borne out O'Brien's confession and that a sensation might be looked for. He has the page from the hotel register at Cumber[illegible] which was photographed, bearing the names of certain people who came to Cumber[illegible] and in the interest of the Truth newspaper and the democratic committee to see Lindsay or Morey. Among others almost are statements to the effect that Stilson Hutchinson, editor of the Washington Post, and some members of Duncan S. Walker's committee, are the parties whom Johnson is after. Whether these reports be true or not Johnson would not say tonight, but assured your correspondent that not half the iniquity of the Chinese letter forgery was yet known to the public, and some parties in high stations were in great danger from unfolding disclosures.

The Philp Indictment.

New York, Nov. 15.—The grand jury did not have the Philp case under inquiry to-day. It is said the jury would not take it up before Wednesday next. Assistant District Attorney Rollins is preparing the indictment.

The Forgery in the South.

The southern democratic press showed more judgment in treating the forged Chinese letter than northern journals of the same party, so far as known but one southern paper published Barnum's fac simile. Others treated it with silent contempt, as a matter of but little importance.

The Telegraph prints the sentiments of several leading southern democratic papers on the recent exposure of members of the democratic committee in connection with the Morey-Lindsay fraud. All denounce the course of Hewitt & Company.

MILITARY EDUCATION.

Gen. Sherman in Response to the Report of Gen. Schofield Gives his Opinion on the School at West Point and Army Matters in General.

[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN.]

Washington, Nov. 15.—Referring to the reports of Schofield and Col. Getty relative to West Point and the artillery school at Fortress Monroe, Gen. Sherman says: In my judgment both these institutions are in as good order as possible, and both are an honor to the country. Education must always be the surest basis of national security and honor. The education and manly training imparted to young men at West Point has repaid the United States a thousand times its cost, and has more than verified the predictions of Gen. Washington. From time to time periodical complaints have arisen to its prejudice such as occurred last year in regard to the cadet [illegible] Whittaker. A thorough, patient, clear investigation in the midst of the tumult of abuse, resulted in the perfect vindication of the authorities of that academy. Every cadet at West Point is an appointee of a member of congress, each member having a cadet of his own nomination, [illegible] with only 10 appointed by the president at large. The corps of cadets is therefore a youthful counterpart of our national house of representatives. The same regulations, the same instruction, books, clothing and food are common to all, and a more democratic body never existed on earth than is the corps of cadets. Prejudice is alleged against colored cadets. Prejudice of race is the most difficult of any [illegible] in this world. There is no more such prejudice at West Point than in the country [illegible]. The authorities at the academy have no voice in the selection of candidates, but must receive, train and educate [illegible] regardless of [illegible] nationality, color or previous condition. To discriminate in favor of the colored lad by reason of his color is as much a violation of the fourteenth amendment to the constitution as [illegible] against him; perfect impartiality being the rule and that I believe the authorities at West Point have [illegible] to follow. In this connection [illegible] In my judgment the requirement that all enlisted men of the 9th and 10th cavalry and the 24th and 25th infantry shall be colored men, whilst the officers are white, is not consistent with the amendment of the constitution referred to. All the men should be enlisted [illegible] qualified [illegible] regardless of color or previous condition. Such has been [illegible] law and usage in the navy for years, and the army would not grow [illegible] to it. No body of men on earth has more respect for the constitution and laws than the army, and I pledge my own and the good faith of all in the service to enforce faithfully every part of the constitution of the United States and every law made in pursuance thereof. Gen. Schofield is abundantly able to enforce the laws and regulations of the academy. Education at Fortress Monroe under the supervision of Col. Getty is purely professional and limited chiefly to the artillery arm of the service. This education cannot be found in another college in America, and is valuable because the use of artillery is limited to war on a large scale, and it cannot be learned in our Indian wars or in common life. When a necessity arises for artillery officers, as in our Mexican war, and also our civil war, it is sudden and immediate. This school costs nothing but ordinary garrison expenses. I still desire to establish a similar school for infantry and cavalry at Leavenworth as soon as the condition of Indian affairs will admit of a release of some good infantry regiments from the distant frontier, which I hope will occur within the next year. In conclusion I beg to state that the entire army is, in my opinion, as patriotic, as patient, as willing to encounter danger and hard service as at any former period of our history. The rapid extension of railroads and mails has much improved the general condition and contentment of officers and men, and they simply suffer the usual fate of peace in the slow promotion and apprehension of changes which never come. The country is so large that regimental transfers and changes are costly, and the consequence has been that many regiments have remained longer in remote quarters than seemed fair; but I have endeavored to make regimental changes as fast as possible consistent with the annual appropriation.

San Francisco, Nov. 15.—Oro levies an assessment of 10 cents.

The Bonanza Lawsuit.

J. C. Flood was to-day again on the stand before George L. Knox, notary public, in the case of Burke vs Flood. He testified that Mackey and Fair worked some of the Con Va[illegible] ores, before the organization of the Pacific Mill Co., and he had the same interest then as now; he could not tell how many mills were employed, but thought his company owned them all; did not know the price of milling under the first contract. Fair, as superintendent, sent the ores to the company's mills, to be worked at the market price; no contract was made; Mackey and Fair represented the Pacific Mill Co., and Fair, as superintendent of the Con Virginia Mining Co., Fair could best tell how he could represent both companies in making contracts; 65 per cent. of the assay value of ores was returned according to custom between the companies; and as much more as could be got out, but if the mills failed to run up to that figure, they made good the deficiency. Con Virginia owns an assay office which is run in its interest, and I understood received pay for [illegible] to work. Con Virginia did not, he thought advertise for bids. It was well understood that Flood and O'Brien, Mackey and Fair owned the mills, therefore no statements to that effect were made in the reports to the companies, never stated our profits on milling at any meeting of Con Virginia; offered to sell the mills to the company two or three years ago, but the company would not buy, absent stockholders were generally represented by Charles H. Fish, president of the company.

NOTES FROM BROWNSVILLE.

THE PURCHASED ROTTEN BOROUGH.

How Nevada is Controlled—Open and Unblushing Bribery—The Shabby Little Corrupt Community Bought Up Like Sheep.

[illegible] from Nevada shows that the contest in that state election was scarcely a contest [illegible]. Nevada as a state is certainly an abomination [illegible] of the American union. A correspondent of the San Francisco Chronicle writes:

The state was literally [illegible] Fair, the democratic candidate for the United States senatorship and [illegible] work performed that Ormsby county was the only place where the republicans pulled their ticket through. Even here, it is claimed that [illegible] would have won, had not the men intrusted with the handling of [illegible] funds salted down the coin for their own private use instead of spending it in [illegible] up the Italian vote. In Eureka county a [illegible] coin fight was made and the republican majority of 200 was turned the other way by the open purchase of voters and trading inside of the republican party. At a recent meeting in Nevada, Pete Canavan and Joseph Potts were [illegible] kicked off the central committee for going over to the enemy on election day. The purchase of votes was here made openly and men went about clinking the coin in their hands. The charcoal burners, mostly Italians, were bought up like a flock of sheep. Most of the miners, let it be mentioned to their credit, stood firm and refused to be tempted with Fair's coin. A well known Virginia broker was in [illegible] on election day disbursing coin openly for Fair's assembly ticket. The purchase of voters was made as openly as if an ordinary stock transaction was being consummated. The woodchoppers employed by Col. Fair received on an average $20 apiece to remain in the towns and the sum paid to outsiders to come in rated as high as $57.50, the latter being the highest price known to have been paid. According to the Appeal, a republican anti-Sharon paper published at Carson, Fair gave his agents instructions to ascertain what Sharon was giving and go $10 higher. A gang of 90 men, waiting to be bought, held off until after the polls closed and lost their chance of exercising the elective franchise and make $41 apiece. In the "Great East," so called, the voters are not so thickly located and they obtained a higher price. On Cherry creek and about Ward, Pioche, Humboldt, Hamilton and various localities of White Pine county they received as high as $80 apiece, and some claimed that they got their figures as high as $100 for a single vote. Talk about Sharon's campaign six years ago, it was nothing to Fair's liberal disbursements of last Tuesday. His agents appeared determined to sink Sharon or bankrupt Fair, and they fairly swamped the Sharon coin. Since that time the cheap gin mills, faro banks and brothels have gathered in most of the cash thus circulated and the numerous roustabouts and hard cakes have been copiously in funds. This all cheer for Fair and curse Sharon for not making an old time coin fight. In Storey county Fair literally mopped the ground with his opponent. The republicans have always had a majority here but the democratic legislative ticket came out 1000 ahead and beat all the republican county officers. Sharon made an effort to save Storey county, for the sake of [illegible] and spent $ 500 in Virginia City and [illegible] in Gold Hill, but it was only a drop to Fair's disbursements, who not only [illegible] his own [illegible] but it is rumored [illegible] Belcher and Crown Point [illegible]. This is in brief the history of the Nevada campaign. The republicans [illegible] sorry [illegible] the legislature [illegible] and the Virginia and Truckee Railroad, which has always tried to run the party for its private interests was the heaviest [illegible]. The democratic legislature is [illegible] owned by the crooked railroad, and promises some lively investigation and reform in the management of the road and nothing but a liberal shaking of the M[illegible] and Stanford sack can save it. It is generally believed that the ulterior motive of Fair's [illegible] was to [illegible] the monopoly, and if there is any attempt made to [illegible] adverse legislation with coin Fair will [illegible] of the road and raise [illegible] to keep his men in line and induce them to keep their pledges to the people.

The Sensation of the Day.

[Special to the San Francisco Chronicle.]

Washington, Nov. 1[illegible].—None of the morning papers received the Lindsay or Morey confessions in time for anything but brief comment, but telegrams received this afternoon say that great excitement over the exposure prevails in all political circles. The democrats here are really much concerned over it, as they see that there is no escape from the conclusion that some of the active members of their national committee helped to put up the infamous job, and have at least made themselves liable to arrest and trial for subornation of perjury. The republicans here have information that the case is rapidly reaching the stage where all the prominent democrats connected with the forgery will be in the hands of the law. The affair is the sensation of the day.

The Presidential Benefit Fund.

New York, Nov. 11.—The Times has a double leaded editorial to-day, advocating a national subscription to provide a perpetual fund, whose annual income shall be enjoyed during life and non-holding of federal office by the oldest ex-president of the United States. The minimum capital of the fund shall be $250,000, and its probable income not less than $12,500. The details as to the management of such a trust are matters for after consideration. Subscriptions to the amount of $50,000 are already guaranteed in a neighboring city. The fact that Grant would in all probability be the first beneficiary of the contemplated trust does not in the least make it a movement in his special interest.

An American Girl's Explanation.

[Olive Logan's London Letter.]

I heard of a rather amusing reply given the other evening at a ball, by an American girl in London society, who had strayed away from the ball room. Her mother subsequently discovered her in a remote nook with a gentleman who had his arm around her waist, while she rested the tips of her pretty little fingers on his manly shoulder. "I am here, what's all this?" exclaimed the irate mamma. Saucy cheeks looked up calmly, and replied: "Mamma, allow me to introduce Capt. X. to you. I had promised him a dance, but was so tired that I couldn't keep my word, so I am giving him a sitting-still waltz instead."

SCHOOL TEXT BOOKS.

That periodical trouble, the selection of school text-books, is again being wrestled with in our state. One fact in connection with it now affords cause of gratification, namely, that most of the competing books are now very good ones. Poor school books, gotten up in haste with scissors and paste pot, are no longer looked at. But it is hard to get a decision on school books based on actual comparison of merits, for the reason that the competing houses, or some of them, invariably use "influence" to secure a verdict in favor of their publications. We are not asserting that it takes the form of direct bribery, yet the effect is the same. Our law, we think, opens this subject to contest too often. A law enacted in New York a year or two ago seems better. That law directed the comptroller, the treasurer and the superintendent of public instruction to make a contract for furnishing a series of text-books to be used in the public schools for the ensuing fifteen years, subject to revision every fifth year. Like the western states, New York had suffered from the intrigues of rival publishers in securing a constant succession of changes in school books. The remedy adopted is a proper one, in fact the only one available; but it marks another step in the recently developed tendency towards centralized powers in the state. According to the old theory of local self-government, exercised by counties and townships and school districts, the state had no more right to impose a certain style of school books upon a district than to select its teachers. But the people were themselves too busy or too careless to look after their school affairs; and the next thing was a clamor because the enterprising book agents undertook to attend to the business for them. One series of books was hardly introduced before it was displaced by the publications of a rival house. The remedy was in the hands of the local communities if they had taken care to elect officers capable of resisting the blandishments of the plausible book agents. The intervention on the part of the state saves the people from the result of their own indolence, secures stability and confers the obvious benefits of uniformity. But even granting that the text books furnished by the state are cheap, are of excellent quality, and are revised as often as may become necessary, it may still be questioned whether the law does not in the end work greater injury than benefit. The object of our public school system is almost as much to educate the people in some respects as to educate the children in certain other respects. If the exercise of local self-government is the chief strength of the republic, then any interference on the part of the state depriving the people of the management of their schools must inevitably impair that strength by depressing their interest, their ability and their independence in the management of public affairs. All this is obvious; but the tendency is so decidedly towards absorption of more and more of the functions of local communities and of every form of social organization into the superior and always growing power of the state, that most people have forgotten that there ever was any other way. The legislature of our own state has special constitutional power "to establish a uniform and general system of common schools," and this may easily be interpreted to include the power to provide for uniformity in text books. Since this now is the settled rule, we are not sure that the New York management, referred to above, is not better than our own.

"INCIPIENT" SUFFRAGE.

If the argument for woman suffrage is good it is quite ridiculous to allow women to vote only in election of school committees. Massachusetts and some other eastern states have gone thus far. But it is either an improper step or it is an entering wedge which should split the male qualification entirely. For the educational is certainly as important as any other part of politics (administration—indeed, the most important—and if women are competent to vote for school administrators why not for officers of less importance? Some of the states which allow women to vote on school questions require them to pay a special poll tax for the privilege, and this may hinder those women whose husbands take all the earnings of the two. But the difficulty might be obviated by allowing women to vote in general elections, since if the poll tax were still required the candidates would probably furnish the money to pay it. It is said that the partial enfranchisement of women in Massachusetts grew out of the election of some women to the school committees. Somehow they were unpopular. It was said that they always voted together and in visiting the schools they treated the teachers in a most unreasonable way. It was also said that woman's proverbial cruelty to woman, and that instinct which puts their backs up when they come together, made an incompatibility between these female committeemen and the female teachers. So the former grew unpopular and were not re-elected. And so to enable them to get in again women were allowed to vote in school elections in Massachusetts. A writer who relates this attributes it to the fact as he states it that those elected were woman's rights advocates, in whom the hardening process of zeal in a cause had subdued natural disposition. The vein of badinage in the whole statement is easily detected. Here in Oregon we have a law which allows women to vote in school meetings in certain cases and under certain conditions. But in most instances such laws are absurd for another reason than that above stated. Their tendency is to make marriage and maternity a political qualification. Now if woman is to be politically free she must not be dependent on man for the qualification that makes her so. If woman suffrage is to be conceded, let it be free from obstructive conditions. Or, to make it equal, let marriage be required as a qualification for men also. Some philosophers argue that woman is not a developed but only an incipient species. Is the argument for incipient and partial suffrage a part of this theory?

NIHILISM AND ASSASSINATION.

The czar of Russia has experienced the unpleasant sensation of several attempts at his taking off by assassination. These attempts are all credited to the nihilists. A nihilist is one who believes in nothing, who respects nothing, who places himself in opposition to everything from a critical point of view. He is one who bows to no authority and no principle. He is an enemy to every institution and every establishment. One extreme always creates another. Thus the savage independence of nihilism, which rejects all authority, is the natural opposite of that extreme despotic power on which the government of Russia rests. The nihilists are numerous and active, they spread terror by their audacity and derive an element of strength from the apathy and indifference of the middle classes towards the government. That there exists among the enlightened classes of Russia a genuine love of liberty has long been known. Over thirty years ago, the German poet Heine declared that the devotion of educated Russians to the principles of political freedom was singularly intense and unselfish. The middle classes, the savans, functionaries, merchants, and many of the army officers and lower clergy are at heart profoundly hostile to the autocratic system. This part of the population, which in the cities and towns is the most influential and enlightened, feels a keen sense of humiliation in the fact that Montenegro and Bulgaria have now legislatures and constitutions secured by the intervention of Russia, while Russia herself, the great and powerful nation, is the only European state without them. The czarowitz is said to sympathize with this liberal element, and the recent estrangement between himself and the emperor is imputed to this fact. He was summoned into the imperial presence and charged with giving countenance to the constitutionalists, and as a test of his devotion to despotism he was offered the presidency of a committee of public safety. To accept this office would have made him the virtual head of the secret police department and responsible for all its cruel punishments. He firmly declined, so the story goes, to accept the place, and since then has been kept under surveillance. The heir apparent, it is said, has always been a man of generous and liberal sentiments. It may be doubted, however, whether this characteristic will abide with him after he ascends the imperial throne; for the destiny of the Romanoff history has hitherto bound every member of the family to the same consistent career of unyielding despotism. Late foreign advices have intimated that the morbid and deep-seated melancholy of the czar may be made to serve as a pretext for his abdication and the appointment of the czarowitz to the regency of the empire. Should such an arrangement be carried out it might prove a happy means of deliverance from difficulties in which the government is involved. But, judging from history, it may be doubted whether it will ever occur to a Romanoff that the sure cure for such evils as seditions and insurgent nihilism is a relaxation of the rigor of an absolute despotism. The story of the liberal sentiments of the heir of the Russian throne is pretty enough perhaps, but yet the world will receive it with some incredulity. The probable cure for Russian despotism will one day be found in revolutionary upheaval. At all times men in possession of absolute power have tried to hold it, so long that at last they could hold no power at all.

PUSHING THE NORTHERN PACIFIC.

Gen. J. W. Sprague, superintendent of the Pacific division of the Northern Pacific railroad, has received the following dispatch:

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.

Have purchased 5000 tons of rails to replace old rails on the Dakota division, 18,000 tons for the Yellowstone division, and 10,000 tons for the Pacific side. Am negotiating for more Pacific shipments, to commence in January. FRED'K BILLINGS.

This indicates renewed energy in pushing construction of this great line across the continent. Several days ago we had notice by telegraph that the road had been finished across the territory of Dakota and had entered Montana. Beyond doubt it will reach the heart of Montana before the close of next year. The purchase of rails for the Pacific division also shows that the work is to be pushed from this side with renewed vigor. The two ends should meet in Montana by the close of the year 1882. By that time, or before, the O. R. & N. company's road will be finished between Portland and The Dalles. Making allowance for all probable delays, Portland people will be able to step on the cars here and off at Chicago in less than three years, going by way of Montana, and perhaps by way of Boise as soon.

"We English," once said old Thomas Carlyle, now on the edge of the grave, "we English are paying the bitter smart of long centuries of injustice to our neighbor, Ireland. Injustice, doubt it not, abounds, or Ireland would not be miserable. England is guilty towards Ireland, and reaps at last in full measure the fruit of fifteen generations of wrong doing." In a similar strain, though without the directness and vigor in which Carlyle has no equal, Lord Dufferin declares that English agency must be held accountable for the perennial desolation of Ireland, a fertile land watered by fairest streams, caressed by a delicious atmosphere, held in the embraces of a sea whose affluence fills the noblest harbors of the world, and peopled by a race who succeed in every land but their own. No prominent Englishman has yet had the courage to present in detail all the miserable story of Ireland's ruin—the story of a nation's industrial despair, its deepening poverty, its reduction to that uniformity of occupation which makes rack-rents and merciless evictions possible, and which constitutes the fundamental evil of Ireland's economical situation. But the wrong has not been without its Nemesis. It has made Ireland the nightmare of British politics, the mockery of England's boasted financial wisdom, the one problem for which there is no solution.

State disestablishment is the treatment required for that shabby, dirty, corrupt little pocket-community known as the state of Nevada. It is a reproach to American statehood that a community like that of Nevada should bear the name. This little rotten borough is always carried in the pocket of one bonanza corruptionist or another. An article printed elsewhere shows how the late election was carried. Sharon bought in this so-called state before, and Fair has bought it in this time. Because Fair has beaten Sharon now the case is no worse than if Sharon had beaten Fair. The lesson simply is that a corrupt pauper community, living in a place where the sole dependence is a mining lode under control of two or three unscrupulous speculators who revel in the fatness of upstart wealth, ought not be a state of the American union. Nevada has no resources on which to found an independent state. It will never contain a high-minded and independent people, because there is no chance for such people to live there. The bulk of its population will always be the property of the bonanza mogul who may be in temporary control. Nevada should be reduced to a territorial condition, or made in name what it is in fact, a county of California.

Gov. Thayer has not yet issued his Thanksgiving proclamation. He is probably studying Bob Ingersoll's theological discourses for proper terms of reverence and devotion in which to set it forth. As the governor objects to making acknowledgment of the existence of a God, he might exhort his people to return thanks to "the protoplastic energy which evolved things, and which, as Shakespeare who was ahead of all other scientists said, has 'bred out the strain of man from the baboon and monkey.'"

The New York Sun suggests that Barnum ought to bring the perpetrators of the Morey forged letter to justice. It is apparent that the most proper way for him to do this would be to go in to court and plead guilty himself. But then he is no Jean Valjean to plead guilty as a matter of conscience and take the consequences.

The long deferred suit against Samuel J. Tilden to recover income tax will be brought to trial in a short time. Government officials express belief that the treasury will gain $100,000 by the suit. The prosecution was ready a long time ago but Mr. Tilden's counsel secured postponement.

The real estate of the city of New York is valued on the assessment rolls at $918,131,380. Personal property is valued at $175,069,335. Rate per $100 for taxation is $2 58. The city has a bonded debt of $136,406,932, and a floating debt of $6,039,066 more.

In the presidential election Chicago cast 82,326 votes, Cincinnati 53,295, and St. Louis 47,545. The vote of Philadelphia reached the prodigious total of 173,465, being only 22,000 less than the vote of New York.

PATRONIZE HOME INDUSTRIES!

PIONEER White Lead.

REASONS WHY IT SHOULD BE PREFERRED TO ALL OTHERS:

First—It is STRICTLY PURE. It is WHITER, is FINER GROUND, is FRESH, has BETTER COVERING POWER, is MORE DURABLE and is LOWER PRICED than any foreign or imported brands.

The IMPORTED LEADS are OLD, are DRY and HARD, COVERED WITH SKINS. The OIL IS SOAKED INTO THE WOOD, and a very LARGE QUANTITY OF OIL, which is HIGHER COST than the Lead, MUST BE ADDED to make them fit for use; and thus making it cost, at every market prices, at least 10 per cent. more than the PIONEER.

Second—The PIONEER LEAD is strictly a HOME MANUFACTURE. EVERY DOLLAR SPENT IN ITS MANUFACTURE IS DISTRIBUTED ON THIS COAST to the MINERS, SMELTERS and REFINERS, MECHANICS, FARMERS AND LABORERS.

The LEAD ORE is mined on this coast.

The PIG LEAD is smelted and refined on this coast.

The POTS, MACHINERY and other appliances are made on this coast.

The MECHANICS and LABORERS are our own population.

The SEED from which the OIL is extracted is GROWN on this coast.

The OIL is MANUFACTURED on this coast by the PACIFIC OIL WORKS, and of a quality superior to any made elsewhere. GUARANTEED PURE and FREE from ADULTERATION with cotton seed, mustard seed and Fish Oil, so COMMON with ALL THE EASTERN OILS IMPORTED.

The manufacture of the PIONEER WHITE LEAD EMPLOYS constantly ONE HUNDRED MEN.

The manufacture of the Oil by the PACIFIC OIL WORKS EMPLOYS constantly FIFTY MEN.

THE MINING, SMELTING, REFINING, FOUNDRIES, MACHINE & IRON WORKS, POTTERIES, FARMERS and other dependencies EMPLOY, in addition, an ARMY OF MEN, all CONSUMERS, contributing to each other's welfare.

The FOREIGN or IMPORTED BRANDS of Lead and Oil CONTRIBUTE NOTHING to the WELFARE or PROSPERITY of THIS COMMUNITY; on the contrary, the PATRONAGE OF THEM results in the RETIREMENT from the State of YOUR CAPITAL and DEPRIVES THE MANY classes aforementioned of SUPPORT.

Every dollar spent for HOME MANUFACTURES, and one so essential a home manufacture as the PIONEER WHITE LEAD, ADDS to the DEVELOPMENT and WEALTH of the COAST, and is a PUBLIC GOOD.

WEATHER PROBABILITIES.

[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16—2:30 — For Pacific Coast, fair or partly cloudy weather.

CITY.

STREET IMPROVEMENTS.—The estimate for the improvement of Third and South Third street from the south line of Market street to the south line of Sheridan, has been filed by the city surveyor with the city auditor. The requirements are as follows: Excavation 1544 yards, embankment 1594 yards, sidewalk 3077 feet, crosswalk 1311, relay 52 yards, sidewalk 364 yards, box gutter 766 feet. Also N street from the west line of North Thirteenth street to the west line of North Fourteenth: excavation 120 yards, embankment 208 yards, sidewalk 212 feet, crosswalk 144 feet, macadam 538 yards, box gutter 211 feet. This afternoon the committee on streets and public property will award the contract for the improvement of these streets to the lowest responsible bidders.

DEATH OF WM. HOLMES.—The sad news reached the city yesterday of the death of William Holmes, whose very dangerous illness was mentioned in yesterday's OREGONIAN. He departed this life about noon. The deceased has been employed on the O. R. & N. boats for several years in the capacity of purser. He was a young gentleman of excellent [illegible] of good business qualifications, and greatly [illegible] by all who knew him. The funeral will take place to-morrow forenoon at Oregon City. A number of the employes of the O. R. & N. Co. will go up from this city to attend the funeral. A younger brother and also the mother of the deceased are lying very low with typhoid fever and but slender hopes of their recovery is entertained.

PILOTS AND TOWAGE.—A special correspondent writes as follows from Astoria: "The talk about the new board of pilots and the little tug Mary Taylor setting up in opposition to the established regime, is [illegible] rather incredulously by some; by others it is [illegible] muttered that 'it is more than probable there may be a change for the worse.' Indeed we think [illegible] to Capt. Flavel and the present board of [illegible] remark that while charges may at times [illegible] large during the busy season, that the season is brief, and the three respectable tugs [illegible] by him have, at continuous and large expense, to be kept in order, although there is but little for them."

BRICK AHEAD.—Chapman & Sebright have purchased all the necessary machinery to start a brick yard in the Portland city homestead. Having discovered an immense body of the finest clay in the [illegible] they propose to turn them out by the million. [illegible] of improvement seems general in this vicinity. Mr. H. Chapman, Hewitt and Ryphs have residences completed; Albert Bartsch, H. Boyd, [illegible] L. Jones, Rev. T. L. Sailes, Judkins and others have their lots already prepared for building. Property seems generally alive. Mr. Rice the [illegible] is to be commended for the energy [illegible] displayed in forwarding this important [illegible]

NEARING COMPLETION.—The masonry of Tillamook light-house has been finished, and it is [illegible] that the next steamer arriving from the [illegible] will report the iron work completed. The fog [illegible] will be shipped from New York within ten days [illegible] as soon as received here will be put up [illegible] in connection with the steel boilers now [illegible] by Smith Bros. & Watson. Barring unforeseen delays and accidents, Col. Gillespie hopes to have another "twinkle, twinkle" and [illegible] by New Year's day for the ships arriving [illegible] Columbia river bar.

MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE.—For some time past rumors have been afloat at Salem regarding the mysterious disappearance of Geo. Cooke, formerly of [illegible] but more recently of Lane county. It seems [illegible] turned up missing several weeks ago, and [illegible] time the community in which he lived [illegible] considerably agitated over the matter. [illegible] suspected, and the authorities of Lane [illegible] the matter in hand and began to investigate the mystery. Subsequently a dispatch was [illegible] to the effect that Cooke was alive in California.

WEEK OF PRAYER.—The first meeting of the week [illegible] was held last evening at the hall of the Y. M. C. A. The services were conducted by the Rev. [illegible] Lindsley, of the First Presbyterian church, and were very interesting and profitable. This [illegible] the second meeting of the week of prayer [illegible] be held at the hall. Rev. Mr. Price, of East Portland, will lead the exercises. The theme will be "Investigation, a path to faith." Services will commence at 7:30 P. M.

BEAR KILLED.—During the early part of last week [illegible] held sway in the neighborhood of Ames' [illegible] committed various depredations around [illegible] and barns. Information was sent to [illegible] known sportsmen here, who visited the [illegible] and after a long hunt F. X. Aner, of [illegible] discovered and killed his bearship. [illegible] weighed 275 pounds.

COMMITTEES APPOINTED.—At the last meeting of the Firemen's Mutual Aid Association the following persons were appointed as the sick and [illegible] committee: Wm. Everson of ones, Ben. L. [illegible] of twos, H. D. Griffin of threes, F. C. McCormick of fours, Noah Lambert of fives, and William [illegible] of Hooks.

A RARE ATTRACTION.—We understand that Mr. [illegible] has kindly consented to exhibit his phonograph at the Unitarian Sunday school fair next Friday. All should avail themselves of the opportunity to see and hear his wonderful invention [illegible] science.

HELD.—Frank G. Pearce, the young man who was [illegible] Saturday charged with stealing from [illegible] $195, was brought before Judge Stearns [illegible] He waived an examination and was held [illegible] the action of the grand jury, and in default [illegible]

A FAIR.—The ladies connected with the [illegible] church are very busily engaged in making preparations for the coming fair which will open at [illegible] hall, corner A and First streets, next Monday. The fair will continue one week.

[illegible] OF THE RAPIDS.—The O. R. & N. Co.'s [illegible] Willamette Chief, which conveyed the [illegible] to the Cascades last Thursday, [illegible] of the river from Bradford's island [illegible] the main rapids in 32 minutes.

LAUNCH SOLD.—On Saturday Sheriff Buchtel sold the steam launch "Annie." The craft was bought by Kahn Bros. for the sum of $275. [illegible] intended to have the launch fully [illegible] again in active service.

[illegible]—This evening the Daughters of [illegible] give an entertainment at Nonpareil [illegible] A very attractive programme has been prepared.

[illegible]—The grand jury of the state circuit court has been very busily engaged for [illegible] has adjourned until Tuesday, Nov. 23d.

[illegible] circuit court adjourned Saturday [illegible] this morning at 9:30. Jurors are required [illegible] for the opening of this court.

AMUSEMENTS.

The Emelie Melville Opera Company in "Pinafore."

Judging by the most enthusiastic applause which greeted solos, duets and choruses, by the universal approval of the audience, by the unstinted praise of many who heard the same opera in San Francisco and eastern cities, the presentation of "H. M. S. Pinafore" at New Market last night by the Emelie Opera Company, must be recorded as the most satisfactory musical performance ever given in Portland. The house was crowded. Every one present seemed to be in the proper humor to intensely enjoy every feature, and all the artists from the prima donna to the most humble member of the chorus seemed to take equal pains that every feature should be presented faultlessly. Misses Melville and Plaisted, and Messrs. Hatch, Kinross, Freeman and Casselli were each heartily applauded as they made their appearance. The cast could not have been improved. Miss Melville is particularly fitted for the role of Josephine, and sang and acted the part with charming vivacity. She exhibited in the solo "Refrain Audacious Tar" an expected strength of voice combined with purity. In the scene with the admiral, Miss Melville introduced Auber's "Laughing Song," giving a brilliant fascinating rendition, which received a triple encore. Miss Plaisted essayed the role of Buttercup and invested it with excellent acting. Her voice, though sweet, is scarcely strong enough for the part. Mr. Hatch is evidently at home in the role of Ralph Rackstraw, and in voice and gestures was all that could be desired. Mr. Kinross' Capt. Corcoran, which was seen by every theater-goer here last summer, could not be improved. Mr. Freeman made a particularly dignified admiral, sang the lines with precision and was just stiff enough. The big step from his rollicking Don Januario in the Royal Middy to the self important ruler of the navy, shows great versatility. If any one has seen Mr. Casselli, he has no idea how much humor there is in the part of Dick Deadeye. His grotesque dancing in the sailor's quadrille which closes the first act is indescribably funny, and sent the audience almost into convulsions. Deafening applause followed the fall of the curtain, which had to be raised twice and still the audience kept on applauding.

The choruses were precise and spirited. A good feature was the drill of five marines. The orchestra would be improved if they would make themselves subservient to singers. The management deserve praise for beginning the performances promptly at the advertised hour, 8 o'clock.

SOCIAL.—The social dance which came off last evening at Turn Halle under the auspices of the Portland Turn Verein, was largely attended and proved most enjoyable to all who participated. This was the first of a series of parties to be given this winter by the society.

As per previous announcement, there was a selection by raffle for the redemption of shares previously subscribed to the society. Shares bearing numbers as follows were chosen. Holders can have them cashed upon application to C. A. Alisky, treasurer:

The ship Edwin Reed is lying at the foot of Washington street discharging railroad iron.

A regular meeting of the common council will be held to-morrow evening at the chambers.

Mr. C. T. Belcher has been very ill with a severe attack of diphtheria, but is much improved.

The social club organized to meet at Centennial Hall, will hold their second meeting this (Tuesday) evening at 8 o'clock.

The work of arching over the fire cistern at the intersection of First and Washington streets has been commenced.

The brick buildings at the corner of Second and Alder and Second and Pine are being shortened in order to make the street of the required width.

The steamer Champion came down from Oregon City with her flags half mast in respect to the memory of Mr. Willie Holmes, who departed this life in that city yesterday about noon.

Many young ladies who are angels in the ballroom and waltz divinely, present a different appearance when trying to fry a tough beefsteak over a green wood fire, or when making hashed fish with a broken saucer for a chopper.

MOST CULPABLE RECKLESSNESS.

The Salem Statesman gives the following particulars of a very sad accident (which was the result of very reprehensible carelessness in the use of firearms) that occurred last Friday evening near Independence, Polk county:

It seems that two boys named William Lawrence and William Lyons, each about fifteen years of age, had gone out in the country a short distance from town to have a good time together; that after starting home they were overtaken by the Independence stage, and the driver had them get in and drive, and while riding along young Lyons took out his pistol, and commenced snapping it at his companion, who repeatedly told him not to do it, as it might be loaded. But to this Lyons paid no attention, saying that it was not loaded, when finally the fatal chamber snapped and a ball was sent whizzing through the face of young Lawrence. The ball struck just below the nose and ranged along back and over the upper jaw, finally lodging just back of the left ear. The unfortunate lad was hurriedly brought to Independence, and after probing for the ball for some time the physician finally dressed the wound and postponed the further operation until Saturday, as it was thought he was too weak from loss of blood to allow them to extract the ball at that time. Dr. McAffee started in answer to a summons for aid, and will assist in making the operation.

HEPPNER CORRESPONDENCE.

[TRAVELING CORRESPONDENT OF THE OREGONIAN.]

HEPPNER, Or., Nov. 12, 1880.

Since our last visit to Heppner, some three years since, the place in general appearance and other important essentials has undergone a really surprising change and for the better, having made many strides forward in material and permanent advancement, as indicated by its rapid growth, in which respect, however, it has but kept pace with the increase in wealth and population with the surrounding tributary country; which fact would appear somewhat remarkable, considering that one may travel the country for many miles around, and with the exception of the narrow strips of bottom land bordering upon the creeks, would find no substantial improvements worth the noting. This, however, is susceptible of an easy explanation, for by consulting the county tax list, it will be seen that the wealth of this section mainly consists of flocks and herds, indeed fully three-fifths of the entire number of sheep in the county, besides a fair proportion of horses and cattle, are owned by residents of Heppner and vicinity. Moreover during the past three to five years the sheep have been carefully graded up with thoroughbred Spanish merino stock, so that in quality, the average clip of this section will compare favorably with that of any locality upon the coast.

The breeds of horses have also been largely improved by the importation of Clydesdale, Norman, Percheron and other valuable stock. The last season this section failed to raise sufficient wheat for their own consumption, consequently a large share of the deficiency of flour and grain had to be purchased and hauled from points 50 to 70 miles distant. Why this should continue to be the case would seem incomprehensible, especially so, when it is considered that besides giving most excellent grazing facilities here, the soil upon much of the table lands, besides that upon the north and northeastern slopes of the hills, in its general character and all its elements presents decided points of resemblance to that of the average of the hill lands in the Walla Walla valley, which have proved especially adapted to the growing of the cereals, and susceptible of a high degree of cultivation. We are glad to note that portions of these lands have, the last spring, been broken, and recently sown to wheat and other grain. The result will doubtless be [illegible] extensive settlement and cultivation, [illegible] upon some of the many thousands of acres here awaiting occupation.

The generally favorable conformation of these lands, their proximity to timber, with the [illegible] climate of this section, consequent upon its comparatively low elevation, combine to make this locality especially desirable. The importance attaching to the discovery of a good quality of coal in this section can scarcely be over-estimated. The Maddock coal mine, located about 16 miles from Heppner, is now being opened. Mr. Maddock has taken out thus far 100 tons. During the winter four men will be constantly employed getting out coal to supply the local demand for blacksmithing and household purposes. Mr. M. has erected strong bunkers at Heppner, where the coal is delivered at the rate of $12 per ton, or $6 at the mine. Outcroppings indicating a superior quality of coal have still more recently been discovered in the vicinity by Mr. Matteson, who will also take immediate steps for developing it.

Nature has done more than would at first be supposed towards adding to the permanence and stability of Heppner as a trading or distributing point, for, owing to the peculiar conformation of the country, the road system is necessarily principally confined to the system of water courses. Thus the location of the town on main Willow creek, at the point of confluence with its several important branches or forks, viz., Balm, Hinton and Rhea, with their numerous connecting streams and hollows, the best natural gradients for roads, tapping the country in all directions for many miles, forming a convenient and connected system of roads which finally converge at Heppner.

The wool clip of this section approximates 1,000,000 pounds. The annual trade of Heppner will amount in the aggregate to fully $200,000. Considering the wealth of stock in this locality, and initiatory steps already taken towards the development of its agricultural and mineral resources, it would certainly appear that the building of an axial branch of the O. R. & N. company's line to extend up the easy grade of Willow creek, as foreshadowed by the remarks of Mr. Villard while visiting Heppner, will prove an event to be soon realized.

The most important industrial enterprise of the place are the flouring mills of H. G. Hewson. These mills are furnished with the modern improvements in mill machinery, with capacity of seventy-five barrels per day. It is proposed to add the necessary machinery for steam power, using as fuel coal from the Maddock mine.

Among the more noticeable of the many other new and quite handsome structures is a fine two-story district school building. A substantial building with a handsome frontage of plate glass show windows, etc., is receiving its finishing touches. It will be occupied by its owner, D. A. Herren, who will shortly open out with a new stock of general merchandise. W. J. Leezer has about completed his fine two-story hardware store. It is the largest and most complete establishment in this line in the county.

It will be no surprise to the many friends of J. P. Bushee to learn that as "mine host" of the leading hotel here he has proved a most decided success.

The establishments of Morrow & Son, [illegible] Bishop, Heppner, Hallock, Mallory, and others have been enlarged and otherwise recently improved.

ESQUITO.

SERIOUS STABBING AFFRAY.

An occasional correspondent at Heppner, writing under date of November 11th, sends the following:

A serious cutting affray occurred here last evening which may result in the death of Ben. Woods, one of the participants. It seems that Woods and James Barnes had been engaged in playing cards at Matlock's saloon for the drinks, and Woods had beaten Barnes ten or a dozen games in succession, and Barnes became enraged about it and tried to pick a quarrel with Woods but could not succeed, as Woods avoided him every way possible, and finally got up from the table and commenced backing towards the door, when Barnes sprang up, caught him by the coat collar with the right hand and commenced cutting him in the neck with a pocket knife which he held in his left hand, Woods still backing towards the door and crying "Oh, don't! Oh, don't!" until he reached the door when he cried, "My God! He is cutting me to death," when Mr. Matlock caught Barnes and took the knife from him. Mr. Matlock was not aware that Barnes was using a knife, but thought he was only striking him with his fist, as only the small blade was in sight. When Woods released himself from his assassin's grasp he started down the street crying and blood streaming down his side. He was escorted to the Western Hotel, where Drs. Shipley and Shots dressed his wounds. He rested quite well last night, but we are informed by the attending physician this morning that there are as many chances for the victim to die as live. Barnes had a preliminary examination and will be held to appear at the next term of the circuit court.

ASTORIA BIBLE SOCIETY.

The Astoria Bible society, auxiliary to the Oregon society, held its annual meeting on Saturday last at 7 P. M., in the Congregational church, Father Power of Upper Astoria, presiding.

Reports from the depository, Mr I. W. Case, and the treasurer, were presented, adopted and ordered spread on the pages of the journal.

The meeting then announced through its executive committee that the anniversary services would be held in the Congregational church on the following evening at 7 o'clock, and Rev. Mr. Hetzler, the agent of the American Bible Society, would preach.

On Sunday forenoon Rev. Mr. Hetzler preached, by invitation of the pastor of the Methodist society, in the Baptist church.

Chaplain Stubbs supplied the Congregational pulpit, addressed a fair audience, and afterward administered the sacrament.

REWARD OF MERIT.

The Oregon Kidney Tea has been awarded two medals by the Oregon State Agricultural Society, the first of bronze and the second of gold, the difference in the value of the two indicating the increase in the esteem of the community which a year's trial of the remedy has induced. For all diseases of the kidneys and urinary organs it is unsurpassed. Don't fail to try it. Ask your druggist for it.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, etc., I will send a recipe that will cure you, free of charge. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the Rev. Joseph T. Inman, Station D, New York City.

YAQUINA BAY.

Report of Survey by U. S. Engineer—The Coquille and Siuslaw Rivers.

Mr. J. S. Polhemus, the engineer sent to make a survey of Yaquina Bay and entrance, and preliminary soundings of the Coquille and Siuslaw rivers, under direction of Col. G. L. Gillespie, major of engineers, has returned to this city, his work having been completed. A representative of THE OREGONIAN has received from him the following information, which will be read with interest by all who had hoped to see Yaquina Bay a prominent seaport.

Outside the bar is a reef running nearly north and south, but safe entrance can be effected either to the north or south of the reef. There are three channels through the bar: the north shows seven feet at extreme low water; the south, running close to the sandy beach, shows seven feet; and the middle channel, which seemed to be the safest and easiest, six feet. The north channel has very much the same form as that shown on the Chase survey of 1868, except that it is a little farther south, and shows two feet less depth than twelve years ago. Just inside the bar, at the mid-channel buoy, there is a depth of fourteen feet, and the body of water connecting the bay proper with the ocean deepens gradually to twenty-nine feet. The channel in the bay runs near the north shore, and as far as Newport is twenty-four feet deep and from 400 to 600 feet wide. Farther up the bay the channel widens to 200 feet or more, and becomes slightly shallower at the head, where eighteen feet is shown. All the figures for depth are at extreme low water. The tides as marked at Newport wharf show an average of eight feet.

At the mouth of the Siuslaw river there is a channel eight feet deep at low water, and the river inside shows eighteen to twenty-four feet depth. The bar at the mouth of the Coquille is only three feet at low water, but inside there is ample water for vessels of small capacity, and an abundance of fine timber within easy reach.

Mr. Polhemus is now at work on a map of Yaquina bay, which will be completed within a short time.

BEAVERTON

Homestead Tract

FOR SALE ON EASY TERMS,

In Parcels of from One to Twenty Acres.

About 700 Acres of Choice Garden, Pasture and Grain Land in the Charming and Thriving Township of Beaverton.

It is distant from Portland about six miles by the Canyon road, one of the most delightfully romantic of the roads leading out of Portland. The distance by the Westside railway is about nine miles. The property adjoins the railway depot.

The land is easily leveled, but fringed with gentle undulations, which are destined to be crowned with villa residences as Beaverton grows in favor as a suburban retreat.

The soil is of unrivalled richness, and repays the husbandman's toil with fabulous yields of vegetables and fruits.

We invite those who desire to secure a self-supporting homestead, charmingly situated, with easy access to the city by road or rail, to

MAKE AN EARLY SELECTION.

To the industrious gardener one or two acres will afford an ample livelihood.

To the dairy farmer no situation can be more advantageous or accessible.

TUESDAY MORNING, NOV. 16, 1880.

THE GIPSY'S PROPHECY.

I visited the prisons of Rome. Among the unfortunate creatures brought hither by distress or guilt, I observed in the corner of the dungeon a young female seated on a handful of straw, nursing her infant. Her complexion was swarthy, and in her large black eyes glowed the fire of the sun of Italy. The relics of her apparel indicated that previous to her imprisonment she had worn the garb of a Roman peasant. Her expressive physiognomy and her bold look seemed calculated to excite curiosity. I approached and begged her to relate to me through what misfortune she found herself in this place of horror.

"St. Francis!" exclaimed she, "what interest can the narrative of my extraordinary misfortunes have for free and happy people? My name is Maria Grazia. My mother lost her life in giving birth to me. My father, devoted to his own pleasures and caring but little about my education, placed me, while yet very young, in a convent. The older I grew, the more irksome this kind of life became to me; for my inclinations, my disposition and the vivacity of my character all seemed to urge me on to a futurity full of trouble.

"A circumstance which I never could account for had a powerful influence upon my fate. On some particular occasion a gipsy woman was admitted into the convent for our amusement. All the sisters were allowed to hold their ears to the tin speaking trumpet of the old sibyl, who, moreover, gave to each of us a slip of paper on which was written what she termed the decree of heaven. Thrice did I go up to her for the purpose of enjoying the like favor and thrice the oracle became mute. This refusal of the old woman excited partly my anger and partly my curiosity. I begged, I entreated, I wept; at length the gipsy was moved by my tears.

"'You insist upon it, unhappy girl,' said she; 'well, then, know that you will be the wife of a robber, who will murder your father, and that your hair will turn gray in a dungeon.'

"At the age of fifteen such predictions make no very deep impression. I laughed heartily on the subject with my companions and loaded the old prophetess with ridicule. At night, however, when I was alone, my mind became, against my will, a prey to apprehensions. I passed the hours in anxiety and painful reverie; the prediction of the fortune teller incessantly haunted my waking dreams.

"My father took me out of the convent, but only to shut me up again with an old housekeeper, at his country seat about five miles from Rome. One night the weather was very tempestuous. I could not sleep. I fancied that I heard a confused sound of voices under my window, which looked into the garden. I awoke my Alia, who never went to bed without her weapon, which was a large carving knife. Presently we heard the outer window shutter broken open. We concealed ourselves behind the curtain; I had armed myself with the knife. A pane of the window was cut, and a hand was protruded through the aperture to unfasten the catch which secured it. I seized the opportunity and struck so effective a blow that the hand dropped at my feet. A yell of agony and the sound of footsteps succeeded, and then all was quiet again.

"At daybreak I repaired to Rome, where I related my adventure to my father; he admired my courage and permitted me to leave the lonely villa. He was by this time thinking of marrying me, and even hoped that my adventure, which was soon rumored abroad, would forward his design.

"Among my suitors there was a young cavalier, the beauty of whose handsome features was heightened by a delicate paleness. He gave himself out for a Florentine, and carried his arm in a sling, in consequence, it is said, of a slight wound which he had received in an affair of honor. His kind attention and amiable manners soon made a deep impression upon me. He solicited my hand; My father, with his usual levity, gave his consent, and we were united.

"The day after our marriage my husband was no longer the tender lover; his looks were wild, his voice was harsh, and his smile sarcastic. Distressed at this melancholy change, I asked with tears after the cause of it.

"'Would you know who I am?' cried he. 'Do you recollect that night when you cut off the hand of an unknown person, who would have penetrated into your chamber? Well, that hand was mine. Look here!' His mutilated arm but too strongly confirmed his story. 'I had seen you,' he continued, 'and was captivated by your beauty. I determined to carry you off. With two of my comrades I ventured to climb up to your chamber window. From the reception which you gave me, we inferred that you had men to protect you. I retired, but learned the next day that to you alone I owed the loss of my hand. Shame and rage at being thus baffled by a girl of sixteen awakened within me thoughts of revenge. I came under an assumed name to Rome; my friends, my artifices, my gold accomplished the rest. You are now the wife of a robber.'

"At this word a feeling of horror seized my soul; nevertheless, whether it was owning to the flexibility of my disposition, to the prediction of the gipsy to that secret fondness for romantic adventures to which the heart often but too willingly resigns itself; or finally to the hope of bringing back, by the power of love, a stray soul, dwelling in a yet youthful body, to the track of virtue; in short, I threw myself at the feet of my husband, and implored him with tears not to cast me from him, for I would never cease to love him. Moved by my tears and my resignation, he raised me to his bosom, and for three years I was, or imagined that I was, happy.

"One evening, however, he returned home pale and perturbed, his garments torn and spotted with blood. In broken sentences he told me that he had been obliged to defend his life against assassins and charged me to observe the profoundest silence respecting this mysterious occurrence. I could not help trembling, but not for him; my soul was shaken by melancholy forebodings of a different kind. A horrid dream terrified me—I awoke. At the same moment my husband was also startled out of his sleep—his convulsed lips several times pronounced the name of my father—the recollections of that gloomy prophecy enveloped my senses in darkness. Oh, my unhappy father! Oh, my still more wretched husband. The former had actually attacked the latter, having probably been apprised of the real state of the case, and desirous of withdrawing me from so disgraceful a connection. The agents of justice were soon in search of us, and we escaped with difficulty to the mountains.

"There my husband bethought himself of his former comrades. He sought them out, discovered them, and a cavern of banditti was now my dwelling. His companions welcomed him with joy; but he had violated one of their laws, which forbids any of the members of the band to marry, and enacts that if a woman should fall into their hands, she should belong exclusively to the captain. No sooner had the latter set his eyes on me, than he rudely insisted on his right. His daring hand had already grasped me, when a ball from my husband's pistol extended the wretch on the ground. Disliked as he was by the band, his fall was a signal for a shout of joy from his comrades, who unanimously elected my husband their leader.

"So completely was I possessed by that wild spirit which must have betrayed itself in my looks to the gipsy at the grate of the nunnery, that I was quite proud of my husband's elevation. I now wrapped myself in the coarse habiliments of a peasant, of which these rags still cover me, and with equal courage and pleasure, accompanied my husband in his expeditions. Towns and villages rang with his exploits. Fate at length overtook him. He fell in a conflict with the horsemen who were sent against us and had discovered our retreat. At the moment when I saw my husband drop, I sought a shelter in a cavern for my infant; there I was seized and dragged to this dungeon, where I anticipate with horror the fulfillment of the latter part of that fearful prediction."

Such was the narrative of Maria Grazia, the widow of the bandit chief. In pity for her situation I offered her some pieces of gold, but she refused them, at the same time caressing her child, which had fallen asleep at her bosom.

BARTERING TITLES.

A Few Facts Regarding Such Marriages.

[Paris Correspondence Philadelphia Telegraph.]

Now, without entering into any further argument on this much discussed topic I shall briefly sketch the results of a few of these unions as they came under my own observation.

Case No. 1 is that of a titled gentleman who espoused, after the usual preliminaries of dowry and settlements, the daughter of a celebrated American financier. After a few years of marriage the lady died, leaving her spouse the father of an only child—a daughter. Time passed on and the husband consoled himself with one of the most beautiful and notorious members of the demi-monde of Paris and finally ended by marrying her. The family of the first wife were naturally anxious to rescue the little girl from the contamination of her stepmother's influence and training. But the titled papa set so exorbitant a price on the possession of his child that her grandparents were forced to oppose a negative to his demands. Consequently the daughter of the American belle remains in the hands of a woman who was famed for her depravity, even among the depraved women of the class from which she sprung.

Case No. 2 opened with a fair prospect of happiness on the part of the newly wedded pair. The bride was beautiful, gentle, intelligent, accomplished, a devout Catholic, passionately in love with her husband. He, on the other hand, was young and handsome, and though he had sown his wild oats rather profusely and reaped therefrom a plentiful crop of debts, there was every hope that under the influence of his fair bride and in the enjoyment of a fixed and settled income he might see the error of his ways and settle down into a steady member of society. As regards the fortune, he displayed as is usual in such cases, a vast amount of anxiety respecting it, refusing even to correspond with his betrothed and her mother before all financial preliminaries were arranged, for fear of compromising himself. Nor could he well forgive his future father-in-law for so tying up the young wife's dowry that it could not be squandered. However their wedded life began smoothly enough. Then came rumors of the conjugal infidelities on the husband's part, of gross neglect and finally of actual corporeal ill usage inflicted on his charming wife. In the language of my informant "he used to beat her like a sack." He, the representative of one of the oldest and noblest houses of Europe, did not disdain to lift his hand against the hapless lady who, for her own sorrow, had bought him and paid for him with a price. The end of the whole matter is a legal separation. The husband has gone off to his lady love, and the wife, not yet 30 and in the very fullness and perfection of her womanly charms, has taken refuge once more under the parental roof.

Case No. 3 is that of an American girl who became the wife of a noble of long descent a few years ago, and who instantly "cut" every one of her former acquaintances, avowing her intention of henceforward associating only with the aristocracy. Of late she has had no chance of associating with the particular specimen of the aristocracy who became her husband as they are legally separated, and while she resides in a rather modest style, he is to be seen at half the prominent watering places of Europe driving the most dashing members of the demi-monde on the public promenades in his open carriage.

The immense demand for capital for investment in the numerous railroad enterprises in the United States it is now claimed will cause the rate of interest to be maintained at a moderately high figure for some time to come. At present there seems to be a most encouraging feeling in the market at the east, and while there is no stringency in the financial situation, the demand is healthy and the various avenues of monetary distribution are abundantly used, vast sums coming into and increasing the volume of money in general circulation.

On this coast the financial market cannot be said to be so active, but still some improvement is noticed and available funds for the maintenance of legitimate commercial enterprises are ample. Rates are steady with no special demand which is not readily met. Remittances from the interior continue to be of moderate volume only.

In the market for domestic produce we notice but few changes and these unimportant. Quotations of the wheat markets abroad are well sustained, but the price of freights is also kept correspondingly high. Hence we have to record but little advance in the local trade, as between the corner which seems to be put up on freights, and the disposition of the holders of wheat to wait for a further rise before selling, business is not extensive. The receipts to-day were about 13,000 centals wheat and 1500 barrels flour. We quote fair to choice shipping wheat at $1 45@1 47½ for valley and eastern Oregon at 2½@5 cents less.

Oats are coming forward rather sparingly and the local trade takes up about all offering at full rates. Hay mill feed, etc., are in good demand and quotations of last week are well sustained with a seeming prospect of a further advance before long.

Provisions are in brisk demand at the figures prevailing for a few days past. Buyers are free operators at quotations. Eggs still scarce and very high, dealers being unable to supply the city trade at 45 cents per dozen.

The improvement in the price and demand for wool which has been noticed of late in our telegraphic reports has drawn out some few lots which had been held over, and about $30,000 lbs have reached this market within the past 48 hours. Prices are firm at 22½@25c for eastern Oregon and 26@29 for choice valley.

CAN'T PREACH GOOD.

No man can do a good job of work, preach a good sermon, try a law suit well, doctor a patient, or write a good article when he feels miserable and dull, with sluggish brain and unsteady nerves, and none should make the attempt in such condition, when it can be so easily and cheaply removed by a little hop bitters. DR. PAUL M. BRENNAN

The Most successful Physician on the Pacific Coast.

IN THE TREATMENT OF ALL

CHRONIC AND DIFFICULT DISEASES

DR. BRENNAN WILL GUARANTEE TO CURE any form of disease of the generative organs or private disease.

He has become an expert in the treatment of disease, weakness and derangement of the reproductive organs of both male and female, including diseases caused by the

FOLLIES OF YOUTH,

Such as SPERMATORRHEA, or SEMINAL WEAKNESS, or LOSS OF PERFECT VITALITY. Nearly two-thirds of all the Chronic Diseases spring, either directly or indirectly, from some derangement of the sexual system, and yet this subject is neglected by the majority of the Medical Profession.

I know that persons who are unfortunate enough to be afflicted by any form of sexual disease have a delicacy in calling upon the proper physician in time, from a sense of modesty and sometimes from ignorance, and permit these diseases to exist until their constitutions become corrupted, their organization broken down, and the hope of future happiness blighted, until death becomes a welcome messenger to carry them out of their miserable existence.

Everything strictly confidential under all circumstances.

Lost manhood perfectly restored.

Catarrh, Bronchitis, Throat Diseases, Skin Diseases, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaint and all Diseases of the Eye and Ear, Stomach and Bladder, he can cure without fail.

Consultation Free, and a list of printed questions sent to those living at a distance who cannot consult him personally. Enclose postage stamp for list.

Office.—No. 65 First street, between Oak and Pine. Office Hours—From 10 to 12 A. M., 2 to 5 and 7 to 8 P. M.

THE GENUINE

DR. C. McLANE'S

CELEBRATED

Hepatitis, or Liver Complaint,

DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE.

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the LIVER to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER.

DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them A FAIR TRIAL.

For all bilious derangements, and as a simple purgative, they are unequaled.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The genuine are never sugar coated.

Every box has a red wax seal on the lid, with the impression DR. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS.

The genuine McLANE'S LIVER PILLS bear the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS. on the wrappers.

Insist upon having the genuine DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, prepared by Fleming Bros., of Pittsburgh, Pa., the market being full of imitations of the name McLane, spelled differently but same pronunciation.
